Dewey Demands Two Rail Trustees Resign To Speed Wreck Probe

Threatens Court Action if Smucker, Delatour Don't Quit by Time Specified

Monday Is Date

Miserable Conditions Are Mentioned by Governor

New York, Nov. 25 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey demanded last night that the two trustees of the bankrupt Long Island Railroad resign by Monday to speed a total shakeup of the commuter line.

Seventy-seven persons died and 332 were injured Thanksgiving Eve when a speeding Long Island express ran through two signal lights and plowed into the rear of another train, telescoping two crowded passenger cars.

Dewey said the trustees, David E. Smucker and Hunter L. Delatour, had lost public confidence. He threatened court action if they did not quit by his deadline.

Smucker and Delatour got the ultimatum from the governor's own lips, but gave no hint of what they planned to do.

Bloodiest Wreck

The wreck—one of the bloodiest in the nation's history and the worst in New York state—came only nine months after another Long Island collision at Rockville Centre killed 22 persons on the same line.

Responding to public outcry to "stop the slaughter," the governor, Mayor Vincent Impellitteri, other public officials and technical experts met last night in Dewey's hotel suite. The meeting lasted until after 2 a. m. (EST.) today.

"It is our unanimous opinion," Dewey said, "that the road is bankrupt financially, as well as being bankrupt in equipment and management."

The miserable conditions of the tracks and the bad operation are basically the result of demoralized personnel and total bankruptcy of the road, both spiritually and physically."

Both Appointed

The two trustees, both experienced railroad men, hold their office under appointment by Federal Judge Harold Kennedy, who is supervising the road's reorganization in bankruptcy. Judge Kennedy attended the conference, but made no public comment.

Dewey said that if the trustees don't step down by his deadline, that the state, the city, and two suburban counties will go into court to seek their ouster.

He called the resignations essential "so swift action can be taken to install a new management." Then the conference discussed possible public ownership of the line, which carried 300,000 passengers to and from New York city daily.

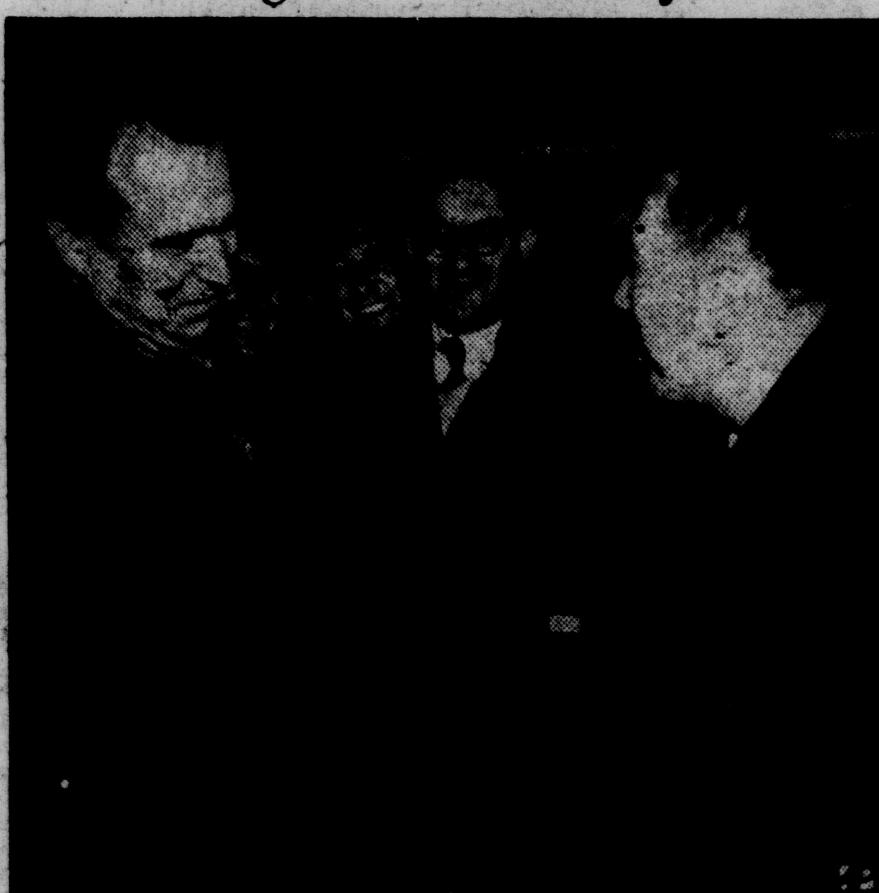

The conference was a preliminary to five independent probes that will try to get to the bottom of the disaster. These five will be made by the government's Interstate Commerce Commission, the State Public Safety Commission, a Mayor's Fact-Finding Committee, the Queens county district attorney, and by the railroad itself.

Mayor Impellitteri, who like Dewey cut short a post-election vacation after the wreck, was bitter in criticizing the huge Pennsylvania Railroad, owner of most of the Long Island's stock.

He spoke of "shocking evidences of neglect, misfeasance, nonfeasance and malfeasance that have for years characterized the Pennsylvania Railroad's control of its Long Island stepchild."

Truman Under Fire In Broadside at Acheson Policies

Republicans Hold President Responsible for All Blunders Made in Korean War

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP)—Republicans brought President Truman directly under fire on foreign policy today as they launched a new critical broadside at Secretary of State Acheson.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the conference of all Republican senators told reporters he holds Mr. Truman directly responsible for what the senator said are "bad policies" that need weeding out.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), a foreign relations committee member, said in a separate interview that he blames the President primarily for "blunders" which involved the United States in the Korean war.

In Omaha, Senator Wherry (R-Neb.), Senate minority leader in the present Congress, said that the most important job confronting the new 82nd Congress will be Acheson's removal.

Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who has disagreed frequently with Acheson, contended that the secretary is in a "difficult spot," adding, however, that "I don't know anyone who would do better."

Kefauver said he thinks Acheson's critics should recognize the President's right to pick his own secretary of state and let the country "get on with its knitting."

Criticisms on Japanese Treaty Base for New Red Propaganda

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP)—Russia's criticisms of American proposals for a Japanese peace treaty were regarded here today as the launching base for a new Soviet propaganda drive against the United States in Japan.

The Soviets raised half a dozen critical questions in a note re- sented yesterday, one as to whether the United States and other nations might conclude a peace with Japan.

Official said that the Russians will get an answer to all their questions as soon as possible.

Secret Meeting Planned Against Inflation, Wage, Price Control by Law

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP)—Moves to curb inflation by industry and labor self-control, rather than by strict government regulation, appeared in the making today.

A select group of top business and labor leaders were reported planning a secret meeting in New York city next Tuesday with that idea in mind.

Two of those reported invited are involved in one of the biggest union-industry struggles of the day, the wage increase drive in the steel industry. These men are John Stephens, vice president of the U.S. Steel Corp., and Philip Murray, head of the C.I.O. and its Steelworkers' Union.

Arrangements for the New York meeting were kept secret. But it was reported industry had suggested it and, along with Murray, such leaders of labor as A.F.L. President William Green and John L. Lewis, chief of the Miner's Union, are to attend.

The main purpose of the meeting was said to be an effort to achieve wage-price stability by voluntary means while going ahead with full civilian production and employment and still continuing the big defense build-up.

In the meantime, two Democratic Senators spoke out in favor of pushing the fight against inflation with higher taxes and stiffer credit curbs before turning to wage-price controls.

Senator Douglas of Illinois told reporters he feels the main reliance now should be on higher taxes and credit restrictions. But he added that wages and prices will have to be controlled if military spending climbs above $40,000,000,000.

Senator Fulbright of Arkansas said he fears that a move toward imposing wage and price controls at this time might discourage or delay action on taxes and credit curbs. This, he said, would be a costly mistake.

Bids for Note Will Be Received Tuesday

Date for Starting Construction on Local Housing Development Is Uncertain at Present; Rents Will Meet Cost of Project

The Kingston Housing Authority will borrow $214,000 on a temporary loan note to begin preliminary work on the city's housing project. Sealed bids for the purchase of the note will be received until 3:30 p. m. Tuesday at the authority's office in the city hall.

The temporary note, set to mature June 5, 1951, will be paid off with money received from the state on an advance loan note. The state loan, in turn, will be met by rents charged tenants in the project itself.

The $214,000 raised by sale of the temporary note will take care of such preliminaries as purchase of land and hiring of architect, surveyors and appraisers.

Proposals must be on a form provided by the housing authority and must be for all of the notes, aggregating $214,000. Full information for bidders is available from George E. Yerry, Jr., secretary of the housing authority. Denominations and amount of interest on the notes will be named by the purchaser in the proposal accepted.

Rents will be determined by the housing authority to cover interest and principal on the state loan, plus maintenance.

Sealed proposals for the $214,000 temporary loan note will be received at the housing authority's office at the city hall until 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, November 28. Principal and interest will be payable at an incorporated bank having trust powers or at an incorporating trust company, as the purchaser designates. All fees and charges, if any, of the bank or trust company for acting as paying agent will be paid by the purchaser.

The notes will be awarded at the lowest net interest cost to the authority under the bid or bids and in computing such interest cost the authority will take into consideration any premium which any bidder offers to pay. The authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

State to Aid

Under its housing program, the state has already agreed to purchase an advance loan note at or prior to the maturity of the temporary loan note in an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the temporary loan.

Truck Driver Held In Hit-Run Death Of Hudson Man

Hitch-Hiker Given Ride Reports Accident and Identifies Chauffeur

Hudson, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP)—A truck driver from New England was held today in the hit-run highway death of Thomas Roweska, 45-year-old farm hand.

Garvin Noel, 35, of Nashua, N. H., was arrested on a criminal negligence charge late yesterday in Albany, several hours after a hitch-hiker had reported the accident.

The hiker, Edward Capoccia, 22, of Rome, N. Y., said he had been riding in the vehicle that struck Roweska.

Capoccia had been held as a material witness but was released after police said he identified Noel as the driver of the truck.

A tractor-trailer was found overturned 15 miles from the death scene, and Capoccia said that was the machine.

The hiker told police the driver had stopped to see what he had hit, then had driven off and left Capoccia standing by the road.

Roweska, of Clermont, Columbia county, was struck as he walked along Route 9, about 12 miles south of here.

Noel, driver for the Cosgrove Trucking Company of Dorchester, Mass., was arranging for a new tractor when arrested.

He was arraigned before Peace Justice Chester Merrifield and held in Columbia county jail.

Army Disclaims Any Liability Although It Controls Railroad

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP)—The army said last night that the Long Island Railroad is under its control but that the army is not liable for any damage claims growing out of this week's wreck on the line.

An army spokesman said the service took over, possession and control of the Long Island last Aug. 27, when it seized major railroads confronted by a strike threat.

Under an operating agreement reached with all of the seized railroads, the spokesman said, the army has no liability concerning any damage claims against these railroads. The spokesman gave this explanation of the operating agreement:

During the period of government possession and control, each railroad assumes full financial responsibility for its operations and retains all proceeds from those operations. In turn each agreement states that the government in taking possession and control of the railroad did not and does not assume any obligation resulting from the operation.

The army judge advocate general designated Col. Earle Hepburn to take part as an observer in the investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Claude Haynes, 32, of Brooklyn suffered a dislocated shoulder when his automobile skidded through a guard rail and dropped six feet to a railroad right-of-way on the Mountain road in the town of Ulster Friday night, state police reported.

Haynes was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition was reported today as "good."

The Chinese Communists, in agreeing to send a delegation to Lake Success to participate in the discussion of Gen. MacArthur's charges of Chinese intervention in Korea, have insisted that the Korean and Formosan questions were inseparable. They have accused the United States of aggression against both territories.

Formosa, the last-ditch island stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists, came under the protection of the U. S. Seventh Fleet at the start of the Korean fighting. This led to one of Red China's complaints.

U. N. officials were unable to state if listing both items on the agenda meant they would be discussed together—as the Chinese Communists have demanded—or simply open the way for a debate on Gen. MacArthur's charges.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 25 (P)—The State University system has asked the state for about $4,500,000 to finance five temporary technical schools "for another year." However, Charles H. Foster, busines

Alvin C. Eurich, said yesterday the request was "not a formal indication on our part that the schools should be continued on a permanent basis." The request went to the Budget Bureau. The institutes are scheduled to close next Aug. 31, unless continued by the Legislature.

Nobel Winner Dies

Copenhagen, Denmark, Nov. 25 (P)—Johannes V. Jensen, 77, famed Danish author and Nobel Prize winner, died at his home here today. He had been ill for some time. The best known of his novels was "The Long Journey," published in six parts from 1908-22.

REV. C. L. CONRAD

The Rev. C. L. Conrad will speak to the congregation of First Baptist Church Sunday at 3:45 and 7 p.m. in observance of Discipleship Day. The public is cordially invited.

He will address the congregation of the New Central Baptist Church, 229 E. Strand, Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Conrad, missionary among the two Karen of Burma, has served under the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society of the Northern Baptist Convention since 1919. He and Mrs. Conrad arrived in this country April of 1949, having lost everything in February of that year due to the civil war raging in Burma.

The lectern has been given by Harriet T. Peck in memory of Catherine H. Smith. One of the clergy chairs has been given by Arthur Brainard in memory of his wife while the other chair is in memory of Frank H. and Sophie Snyder given by their sons, J. Walter, Edward, Ralph and Frank Snyder.

During the war years from 1942 to 1945, the Rev. Mr. Conrad served as honorary chaplain in the Rangoon Field Brigade, Rangoon, until he was forced to evacuate in March of 1942. He then became director of the United States Office of War Information, Karachi, India, from June of 1942 until June of 1945.

He is a graduate of Carson New College and of Newton Theological Institution. In 1917 and 1918 he served in the French Army in France as a Y.M.C.A. worker. Following a missionary appointment in 1919, he went to Jamshedpur, India, largest steel center in the Orient, for English vernacular and building work.

DUTCH CUT RED TAPE

A curly-haired little boy with a smile that was an editorial all by itself came down the gangplank of a Navy transport in New York the other day.

He arrived with a whole boatload of displaced persons from Bremerhaven, Germany. Four-year-old Tomas Stadler was probably the least displaced of them all, even if he bore, for a little while, the grim label of a "political undesirable."

It wasn't that Tomas was either political or undesirable. He was a little too young to have a subversive influence on any front except, perhaps, the one that has to do with eating your spinach. And that grin, as he stood beside his sister, his chin reaching the lifeline below the ship's railing, was such a happy thing it made the photographer grin right back.

That same infectious smile, probably, was what got Tomas his brief interlude as a "political undesirable." When his father fled Czechoslovakia, the rest of the family managed to get to Munich, Germany. Tomas went with friends to Holland.

In Munich, the boy's father got a job with the International Refugee Organization and went to work trying to get his family back together again so he could bring them all to America. This, however, required an Allied entry permit for Tomas, which would have taken a long time.

The Dutch officials, however, didn't think Tomas ought to wait. They simply tossed him out of the country for "political reasons," which meant he could be admitted to the Occupation zone without further ado, since he had to go someplace.

If Tomas understood the unhappy name they had to call him, merely for the record, he also must have understood the Dutch really didn't mean it. They whisked him to the border in style, in an official car, so he could run across the boundary line to his waiting parents.

Red tape is such a standard bit of equipment in the official doings of all countries nobody would have been surprised if it had taken months for Tomas to get back in the family again. We think the Dutch, who defeated the red tape with a straight-faced guse, ought to know about the happiness Tomas radiated when he got to the U. S. It would repay them for the few minutes they spent switching the word "undesirable" into a highly humanitarian deed.

FRIENDS AND ENEMIES

In a new book, "The Art of Courageous Living," its author, Dr. John A. O'Brien tells a story about Lincoln:

"At a dinner in Washington, he spoke kindly and even in endearing terms of some of the Confederates. 'I am surprised, Mr. President,' said an elderly lady near by, 'to hear you speak of our enemies in such a kind way. I should think you would seek to destroy them instead of trying to love them.'

"But do I not destroy them as enemies," replied Lincoln, "when I make them our friends?"

It might be worthwhile to meditate on that a bit, next time a fellow is tempted to the sharp speech which will make his enemies more hostile, instead of giving the soft answer that might destroy them as enemies by making them his friends.

Loss of memory can be a beneficial affliction—as long as the right memories are lost.

The surest way to get the youngsters to Sunday School is not to send them but to take them.

A BOY AND A MATCH

When a laundry or cleaning establishment is the scene of a fire, as occurred recently in Mt. Vernon, New York, the number of persons who are directly affected is usually large. In this case thousands of garments, in for cleaning, were destroyed. The thousands of owners of these will have a distinct personal awareness of the loss from this fire.

These thousands also are likely to be joined a little by the fact that the fire had an old,

THE UNITED NATIONS FLAG

Flags are symbols of institutions. As such, they bespeak the character of that which they represent.

The question then arises whether the United Nations is a super-state, a federation of nations, or a parliament of sovereign states, an agency for mutual functions.

The excitement of those pro and con, about the hanging of the United Nations flag in American schools, as usual avoided this definition of terms. Actually, that makes all the difference.

If the United Nations is a federation of states, even in its present early stages, then its flag is the symbol of world government. Under such circumstances, this provision of its flag code of December 1947 is correct:

"The flag of the United Nations shall not be subordinated to any other flag."

If, on the other hand, the United Nations is a meeting place of sovereign states, or the agent of those sovereign states, then its flag must be subordinated to those of its principals.

The real question here is not trivial: nor is it hair-splitting. At issue are national sovereignty and world government. When the American people decide to abate national sovereignty and to become a state within a world government, such a decision should be acknowledged in an orderly manner by due process of law. That has not happened.

True, we are signatories to the United Nations charter and members of the United Nations organization, but so careful have we been to avoid any abatement of national sovereignty that it was actually the United States which introduced the device of the veto, for the specific purpose of safeguarding our sovereignty from gradual absorption in a world organization, subject solely to majority vote.

If the American people have changed their minds about that, a joint resolution of both houses of Congress could be declaration of a new purpose. Such a resolution has not been passed.

This conflict of relationship appears in the United Nations flag regulations:

"When the United Nations flag is displayed with one or more other flags, all flags so displayed should be displayed on the same level and should be of approximately equal size."

"On no account may any flag displayed with the United Nations flag be displayed on a higher level than the United Nations flag and on no account may any flag so displayed with the United Nations flag be larger than the United Nations flag."

Actually, in the United States, the American flag precedes all others as the symbol of sovereignty. The United Nations flag is not on a level with the American flag. No flag is. However, if sovereignty has lost its meaning for us, then it does not matter whether we have a flag at all, except perhaps for historic nostalgia.

At this moment, when this country is realistically at war with Soviet Russia, this matter of the flag is of the utmost importance. The morale of our people cannot be sustained without a deep sense of love of country, of adherence to its traditions, of faith in its destiny.

In World War 2, patriotism was played down.

No such song as "Over There" stirred us. No great parades were held. No Sousa's band, as in World War 1, moved us emotionally. It was a bland, highly organized, rationalized war enterprise. And the young people came out of it wondering what it was all about.

Today, we are facing an enemy who employs words as weapons. He bombs young minds with ideas and symbols of ideas. And thus far, he has met with astonishing success, because the counter-words lack inspiration and meaning.

Our greatest defense against him must be the stimulation of the will to resist by words. But what words do we speak? Some say "democracy," but their definitions fall on deaf ears because, while the word is a good symbol, the definitions have little meaning. Others use the symbol "free world," but again they do not define free in contrast with slave, nor do they dare give God as the source of freedom, lest they become entangled in controversy. Therefore, the phrase, "a free world," does not quite convey the ideas intended.

Is the American flag the symbol of democracy or of a free world or of the spirit and character and history of the American people apart from all other peoples on earth?

NEW PREPARATION FOR MIGRAINE

I write from time to time about migraine (one-sided headache) which is so often accompanied by nausea and vomiting. It is most often found in those who work hard mentally and physically, are overconscientious and often overambitious.

Some years ago Dr. Mary O'Sullivan reported a large number of cases in which ergotamine tartrate (ergen) was unusually successful. Previous treatment had been a few days rest in a quiet, darkened room. The breathing in of pure oxygen, suggested by Dr. Walter Alvarez, Mayo Clinic, helped many cases. However, while the usual treatment today is ergotamine tartrate, as some patients have some side reactions therewith a preparation in which caffeine is added to ergotamine tartrate is now available.

In Journal of the Missouri State Medical Association, Dr. Robert E. Ryan, St. Louis, reports his results with a preparation known as cafegotone containing 1 mg. of ergotamine tartrate and 100 mg. caffeine. It is manufactured in sugar-coated tablet form. It is now used to prevent or shorten the length of the migraine attack of headache caused by too much histamine in the system. However, to obtain the best results, it must be used at the very onset of the attack. Two tablets were found to be the best average dose.

Of 201 cases, 68 per cent obtained excellent results; 14 per cent good results; 11 per cent experienced toxic (poisonous) symptoms which consisted of nausea and abdominal cramps.

It is an excellent preparation to use in aborting or shortening length of attacks of migraine and cephalgia (headache) due to histamine for which so many new drugs (antihistamines) are now being manufactured by various drug manufacturers. However, Dr. Ryan does not claim that cafegotone is a sure cure for these types of headaches.

I am giving this information because so many, especially women, and including a large percentage of school teachers, do not know about this addition of caffeine to ergotamine tartrate which helps to control the action of ergotamine alone.

Those who suffer with migraine and those who have been patients suffering with this distressing ailment will be pleased to learn of this new combination of drugs.

Washington—Though a large part of the American public appears to be convinced that flying saucers do exist, so far the air force has not been able to track down a single bona fide saucer.

This is despite the fact that U. S. aviators have spent hours upon hour checking reports not only of flying saucers, but of such weird phenomena as midgets from Venus, shooting stars, and even a real washtub.

Another hot tip which air force investigators patiently tracked down was that a flying saucer had actually crashed near Warren, Minn. The report was traced to Walter Sirek, a service-station operator, who directed the investigators to look behind Nish's tavern.

What they saw was summed up in the secret air force files as follows: "The machine was obviously made from various objects such as an old washing machine cover, part of a radio set chassis, and a spent insecticide bomb."

It developed that Ted Heyen and Robert Schaeffer, who run the local hardware store, had made the "flying saucer" as a joke.

The air force has even received pictures of saucers in flight. The most spectacular was a movie of two silvery discs streaking over the baseball park at Great Falls, Mont., sent in by Nick Mariana, park manager.

However, investigators found that the pictures were taken between 11:20 and 11:35 a. m. on August 15. By coincidence, two silvery F-84 jet fighters from Ladd Air Force Base, Alaska, flew high over Great Falls at exactly that time. The sun was shining so that reflections from the flying saucer, all of them supposedly arriving with the blonde midgets from Venus.

Dead on arrival, these space-traveling midgets had no cavities in their teeth, and wore shoes resembling human skin according to the story told the air force. Furthermore, Coulter was supposed to have as proof of this visit from Venus—a lunar clock operating on a 28-day cycle, a space radio, and a gear from the flying saucer, all of them supposedly arriving with the blonde midgets from Venus.

Meanwhile, flying-saucer reports continue to pour into the air force at the rate of five or six per day but, so far, not one has ever materialized.

Missing G.I.'s

One tragic and unpublicized fact about the Korean war is that at this writing the army has only been able to release 138 prisoners of war from Korean prison camps.

This leaves approximately 4,000 Americans still missing. Originally, the army believed that most of these missing G.I.'s had been killed in action. However, since U.N. troops have now traveled the entire length of Korea without recovering the bodies of these missing men, it is believed they must have been taken prisoner and removed to Siberia.

So far, Chinese troops have treated American prisoners almost as if they were allies, returning many of them to American lines. But if the 4,000 G.I.'s were transported into Siberia by the Russians, the story may be different. This possibility is giving the army great concern.

Note—As of the last official count, 4,144 G.I.'s were listed as missing.

Washington—Though a large part of the American public appears to be convinced that flying saucers do exist, so far the air force has not been able to track down a single bona fide saucer.

This is despite the fact that U. S. aviators have spent hours upon hours checking reports not only of flying saucers, but of such weird phenomena as midgets from Venus, shooting stars, and even an old washtub.

This column has now been able to examine air force files, and it is quite evident that the air force has done a painstaking job of trying to establish whether or not flying saucers do exist.

These files show that considerable time was even spent checking the report received from movie actor Bruce Sabot and the Wyandotte Echo, a newspaper published in Kansas City, that corpses of blonde, beardless 3-foot men from Venus had been seen arriving on a flying saucer by a man named Coulter.

Dead on arrival, these space traveling midgets had no cavities in their teeth, and wore shoes resembling human skin according to the story told the air force. Furthermore, Coulter was supposed to have as proof of this visit from Venus—a lunar clock operating on a 28-day cycle, a space radio, and a gear from the flying saucer, all of them supposedly arriving with the blonde midgets from Venus.

Patient Air Force

So the air force, as it does with most of these rumors, painstakingly and patiently investigated.

The mysterious Mr. Coulter turned out to be George Koehler of Denver, an advertising salesman for Radio Station KMYR. He produced the flying-saucer gear, but it turned out to be a mundane product of this planet, stamped with the Roman numeral VI. His space radio was a chunk of metal that utterly failed to pick up a message or even a wheeze from space.

In the face of this evidence, Koehler still claimed knowledge of the little men, but refused to divulge his source and drastically revised his story.

According to the confidential air force report, Koehler stated that he had no parts of flying saucers in his possession at present. He denied having ever seen any flying saucer or its occupants.

Flying Washtub

Another hot tip which air force investigators patiently tracked down was that a flying saucer had actually crashed near Warren, Minn. The report was traced to Walter Sirek, a service-station operator, who directed the investigators to look behind Nish's washtub.

But prompt investigation showed it to be only a dense black cloud so charged with electrons that it appeared on radar.

On the air force's own radar screen, near Wright Field, Ohio, picked up what appeared to be a flying saucer drifting eastward at 20 miles per hour. But prompt investigation showed it to be only a dense black cloud so charged with electrons that it appeared on radar.

Meanwhile, flying-saucer reports continue to pour into the air force at the rate of five or six per day but, so far, not a one has ever materialized.

Missing G.I.'s

One tragic and unpublicized fact about the Korean war is that at this writing the army has only been able to release 138 prisoners of war from Korean prison camps.

This leaves approximately 4,000 Americans still missing. Originally, the army believed that most of these missing G.I.'s had been killed in action. However, since U.N. troops have now traveled the entire length of Korea without recovering the bodies of these missing men, it is believed they must have been taken prisoner and removed to Siberia.

So far, Chinese troops have treated American prisoners almost as if they were allies, returning many of them to American lines. But if the 4,000 G.I.'s were transported into Siberia by the Russians, the story may be different. This possibility is giving the army great concern.

Note—As of the last official count, 4,144 G.I.'s were listed as missing.

Hadassah to Give Radio Skit Monday

A skit, entitled "Leave of Absence" will be broadcast Monday afternoon at 2 by members of Hadassah over station WKNY. The broadcast will attempt to educate radio listeners to a better understanding of the work Hadassah is doing on the Israel scene, as well as to lend intelligent insight into the infant nation's need for aid. Emphasis will lie on Israel's problem of medical aid and service, at the same time relating just what Hadassah is doing to relieve the sick and needy there.

The cast on Monday's broadcast will include Dr. and Mrs. David Kline, Nat Becker, Mrs. Alex Parnett, David Gally, Eleanor Cohen, and Mrs. Muriel Smolen.

On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday next week Hadassah will hold its annual bazaar at the Agudas Achim social hall to raise funds for medical aid to Israel.

MAKING UP IN PUBLIC

An office discussion has prompted this letter: "I work with six other girls and the other day we all lunched together and got on the subject of making up in public — particularly after finishing eating. I maintain it is permissible for a girl to apply lipstick after she has eaten, but as for combing hair and powdering her nose, those were the strict tabus. Will you settle this dispute?"

You are right about combing hair. Nothing could be more nauseating than the thought of hair combing of any sort at table. Powder and lipstick, if applied briefly, are permissible although I can't imagine why they should be necessary in this day of cake powders and the modern use of a transparent liquid that when put over whatever lipstick you use makes it stay on for hours.

How Much Champagne at a Wedding?

Dear Mrs. Post: When serving champagne at a buffet wedding reception how can we regulate the amount each is entitled to? If it is poured and the glasses passed around on trays, as I've seen it done, some people take an extra glass whenever the tray passes by them. It wouldn't reach if much of this happened.

Answer: I think it just about even up. Allowing let's say two glasses apiece, many of the guests drink only one and comparatively few, three. Don't forget too that a number of the guest would drink none if they had an alternate choice of something such as fruit juice.

Signing Your Christmas Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: We're going to sign our cards by hand and I wonder whether it should be (a) Mary and John Doe or (b) John and Mary Doe? (c) Does the same answer apply to printed names?

Answer: When the cards are signed by hand, the one who writes the names courteously writes his (or her) own name last. But when cards are printed, there is no rule about whether the husband's or the wife's name shall be first. "Mary and John" seems more polite to Mary, but "John and Mary" does of course follow the conventional Mr. and Mrs. form.

"Is it wrong for a girl to telephone a boy at his house?" This is one of the questions in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-11, which is a quiz for boys and girls of high school age. ### Noted Psychiatrist Discusses Comics

Dr. Alice E. Rost, noted psychiatrist of Albany and Kingston discussed comics and their effects upon children when she met with Child Study Club No. 2 last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Severyn Hasbrouck.

Comics, Dr. Rost explained, are not harmful to the child in most instances. It is only when they deal with family life that they strike a discordant note. In attempting to depict a usual family grouping, they heap ridicule on the father's head, depicting him as a shadowy, background creature, while the mother generally assumes a strongly dominant character. A pleasing feature in most comics, Dr. Rost added, is that justice always triumphs, and virtue is always justly rewarded.

During the meeting Dr. Rost also discussed several aspects of psychiatry. She illustrated how harmful attitudes, which are generally built up over a long period of time, often take an equally lengthy interval to erase.

Following Dr. Rost's talk, Stephen Hyatt, principal of School No. 7, showed "Preface to Life," a reel prepared by the New York State Department of Hygiene.

The movie illustrated how parental plans and dreams influence the child's personality and character often differ, the film explained.

As the child grows, these dual hopes are translated to him in various ways, often producing a conflict in the child's mind. The movie also showed the ideal method of handling the child in these situations, so that he would not become confused.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Severyn Hasbrouck assisted by Mrs. Donald Swan.

Child Study Club No. 2 will meet again December 7 at the home of Mrs. William Anderson.

Kingston Students Win Music Honors

The Middletown music festival November 17 and 18, which opened with a series of tryouts, awarded musical distinction to four Kingston High School students.

Paul Jeffrey won first chair in the band for the solo clarinet; Jane Gunter was first chair in the second violin section of the orchestra; Gail DeWitt played first chair in the cello section of the orchestra; and soprano Sylvia Kern sang a solo in one of the chorus selections, "Russian Picnic," by Enders.

Grange Favoring Excise Profits Tax

Minneapolis, Nov. 25 (AP)—The National Grange was on record today for a substantial excise profits tax to help pay the cost of defense.

Demand for the tax came in the final moments of the 10-day convention which closed yesterday.

But such a tax, a resolution stated, should be based on a reasonable return on invested capital. "In our emergency period," the grange said, "a high excess profits tax is completely justifiable but we must preserve opportunity and incentive to expand."

More than a score of resolutions were approved. Among them were demands for a 12-man bipartisan commission to help take the farm problem out of politics; for action on the St. Lawrence Seaway and power project; for curbs on private utilities which the grange said seek to block REA development in areas where private utilities cannot do the job; for curbs on communism; for establishment of mental illness clinics; and for divorce of the Farm Bureau and extension service.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

At this Thanksgiving season it is encouraging to speculate upon the strategy dimly coming to light in Korea. One can only speculate because as this is written (Thanksgiving morning) there are only rumors to guide our guessing.

Rumors have it that "peace" may be in the making between the Communist and United Nations' forces. A human note was inserted when a number of Americans, captured by the Red Chinese, were returned to our lines in time for a Thanksgiving dinner.

We also know that the emissaries of Red China, from Peiping, are on the way by air to the United States and will arrive Friday morning.

In a third corner Russia sits glumly not giving many hints to her next contemplated war of nerves' move except that we know she wishes to seat Red China at the U. N. conference tables and show Nationalist China the door.

That seems to be the set up as a crucial week-end come up to add another page in 1950 history.

In maneuvering for position opponents naturally make every effort to get as many forces on their side as possible. Also, if it appears that one group might be useful as an intermediary that group is argued for by all sides.

A short time ago, India, you recall, attempted to act as an intermediary. It didn't work out. Russia's reply to India's attempt as a peace-maker was the Communist intervention in Tibet. This would appear to nullify India's role as an intermediary.

Great Britain at the moment is in the position of a possible intermediary, when the Red Chinese delegates arrive. Great Britain has favored recognition of Red China as the government of China. Therefore, one would assume that Great Britain will not take a belligerent attitude toward the Peiping visitors, although how far she will go in trying to bring the Red Chinese viewpoints before the U. N. is still problematical.

The Ruminator would guess that in maneuvering for trading positions, we might hear many more rumors of peace in Korea. Russia's strategy apparently has been, first, to show the U. N. forces that Red Chinese forces can prolong the Korean war in-

Deadline Date Due On Reds' Answer

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP)—Enforcers of the new anti-subversive law awaited word from the mailman today which will set the deadline date for the Communist Party in the U. S. to answer government charges that it is ruled by Soviet Russia.

A copy of McGrath's petition to the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) was put in the mail Wednesday night—registered, air mail, special delivery.

It was addressed to William Z. Foster and Gus Hall, top Communist Party officials in New York.

Seth W. Richardson, SACB chairman told a reporter today that the party has 20 days from the time it is notified officially—that is, from the time it signs the postman's registry slip—to file its reply. Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, there may be some delay.

So rumors probably will continue to circulate that peace is possible.

If the Ruminator, in his armchair speculation, has come anywhere near to hitting the trading position and strategy, the coming days will be anxious and full of unexpected twists and turns.

Whether Russia can be outsmarted in her coming strategy remains an enigma, obviously. She has continually won out in world politics since the big war ended. She has doubled her population, giving effect to the satellite nations and China. So, to use a cliché, the coming days are pregnant with possibilities.

Incidentally, Yugoslavia conceivably will play an important part, if her delegate takes the side of the western nations in the coming struggle.

I want to bring to your attention a little book that is helpful to read and study during these times of strategic political maneuvering. It is titled "Strategy in Poker, Business & War." It undertakes to present a new theory of strategy that has been conceived by a noted scientist, John von Neuman. Von Neuman and Morgenstern have written a thesis on the Theory of Games and Economic Behavior which is beyond the understanding of laymen as it is written in the scientist's language. This little book, by John McDonald (W. W. Norton & Co., Inc.) is an interpretation of the theory that you and I can comprehend. Let me suggest you look it over at your library or bookseller's, as I am sure you will find it engrossing and helpful in these days of world complexities.

The Ruminator would guess that in maneuvering for trading positions, we might hear many more rumors of peace in Korea. Russia's strategy apparently has been, first, to show the U. N. forces that Red Chinese forces can prolong the Korean war in-

9W Traffic Tied Up
By Big Rock Slide

Haverstraw, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP)—A rock slide from High Tor, a peak overlooking the Hudson River just south of here, tied up traffic on Route 9W, the main highway to Albany, for eight hours yesterday.

It was the worst rock slide from High Tor in 10 years. Tons of rock were removed from the three-lane roadway by State Highway Department crews.

The slide occurred in the morning. One lane was cleared by noon but the road was not completely passable until mid-afternoon. Police re-routed traffic through Haverstraw.

The name of the elevation was used as the title of a play by Maxwell Anderson.

Woman Pleads Guilty
In Illicit Still Case

New York, Nov. 25 (Special)—Josephine Galante of Villa Galante, New Paltz, pleaded guilty in Federal Court here Wednesday to an indictment charging her and a man with the operation of an illicit still on her New Paltz farm.

Federal Judge John Clancy released the New Paltz woman on her own recognizance for sentencing on November 27th. She is the fifth of the six defendants to plead guilty to the charge.

The defendants were arrested on November 16, 1948, when Federal agents found a 500-gallon still on the farm, described as one of the most elaborate they had ever seen in the area.

Hoover, Baruch Honored

Los Angeles, Nov. 25 (AP)—The Mormon Medal of Honor of 1950 goes to former President Herbert Hoover and financier-counselor Bernard Baruch. The gold and diamond medallions were awarded in a presentation last night by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Film actress Laraine Day aided in the ceremonies. Herbert Hoover, Jr., of Pasadena, Calif., accepted for his father; Baruch's award was accepted by Dr. Harvey Mudd, Los Angeles civic leader. The Mormon medal is given annually to two persons for "distinguished services for their fellow men." Actor Gary Cooper and Producer Cecil D. DeMille won last year's awards.

Grange Favoring Excise Profits Tax

Minneapolis, Nov. 25 (AP)—The National Grange was on record today for a substantial excise profits tax to help pay the cost of defense.

Demand for the tax came in the final moments of the 10-day convention which closed yesterday.

But such a tax, a resolution stated, should be based on a reasonable return on invested capital. "In our emergency period," the grange said, "a high excess profits tax is completely justifiable but we must preserve opportunity and incentive to expand."

More than a score of resolutions were approved. Among them were demands for a 12-man bipartisan commission to help take the farm problem out of politics; for action on the St. Lawrence Seaway; and power project; for curbs on private utilities which the grange said seek to block REA development in areas where private utilities cannot do the job; for curbs on communism; for establishment of mental illness clinics; and for divorce of the Farm Bureau and extension service.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

At this Thanksgiving season it is encouraging to speculate upon the strategy dimly coming to light in Korea. One can only speculate because as this is written (Thanksgiving morning) there are only rumors to guide our guessing.

Rumors have it that "peace" may be in the making between the Communist and United Nations' forces. A human note was inserted when a number of Americans, captured by the Red Chinese, were returned to our lines in time for a Thanksgiving dinner.

We also know that the emissaries of Red China, from Peiping, are on the way by air to the United States and will arrive Friday morning.

In a third corner Russia sits glumly not giving many hints as to her next contemplated war of nerves' move—except that we know she wishes to seat Red China at the U. N. conference tables and show Nationalist China the door.

That seems to be the set up as a crucial week-end come up to add another page in 1950 history.

In maneuvering for position opponents naturally make every effort to get as many forces on their side as possible. Also, if it appears that one group might be useful as an intermediary that group is angled by all sides.

A short time ago, India, you recall, attempted to act as an intermediary. It didn't work out. Russia's reply to India's attempt as a peace-maker was the Communist intervention in Tibet. This would appear to nullify India's role as an intermediary.

Great Britain at the moment is in the position of a possible intermediary, when the Red Chinese delegates arrive. Great Britain has favored recognition of Red China as the government of China. Therefore, one would assume that Great Britain will not take a belligerent attitude toward the Peiping visitors, although how far she will go in trying to bring the Red Chinese viewpoints before the U. N. is still problematical.

The Ruminator would guess that in maneuvering for trading positions, we might hear many more rumors of peace in Korea. Russia's strategy apparently has been, first, to show the U. N. forces that Red Chinese forces can prolong the Korean war in-

BABSON on BUSINESS

New Boston, N. H., Nov. 24—Although I have written about housing more than once recently, a number of readers are asking me to tell them specifically what I think about building new homes now in view of the recent Federal Reserve cut back of credit privileges.

Readers are writing me that they would like to build a home; but they are not large wage earners and prices are now so high that they are afraid to act. My answer to these people is that it is O.K. to build now if you want a home to live in (not to rent.) Also, if you can pay at least one-quarter down with a 15 year payment plan on the balance, even although it does cost a lot to build a new home today with present high prices of building materials and labor.

Prices of labor and most materials, however, are not going to come down very soon. Those who decide to postpone building their new home until prices readjust themselves to something like pre-war values, will be obliged to wait a long time. This is a growing country whose population and economy have expanded mightily in the last ten years. So long as it continues to grow and so long as our living standards advance, we cannot expect a return to the lower price level of years gone by. Let us look ahead rather than backward and not be afraid to invest in the future of America.

This is no time to build rental units.

Note that I advise building now only if you want a home to live in. I do not believe it is wise to build homes to rent at this time. Even if we avert another global war, the change-over to an economy providing for increased defense planning and spending will have a considerable effect upon construction and real estate. Thus, it appears that rent controls are here to stay for awhile longer and may even be tightened in some strategic areas. Certainly, events since June 25th clearly indicate that substantial relaxation of these rent controls is now unlikely, and sharper restrictions may be invoked if the war should spread.

New homes

There, however, are exceptions to every rule and, while I do not advocate building homes for rent propaganda than in private diplomatic negotiation.

Russia inquired pointedly, for example, whether an American proposal to have U. S. forces Japan's security after a treaty is concluded means that this country intends to maintain military, naval and air bases in Japan. The United States had spoken of "cooperative responsibility between Japanese facilities" and American forces. The question of bases is a touchy one with the Japanese.

American officials said that this country contemplates making no request for base rights. What actually is planned, they said, is to ask the Japanese government to make a treaty, separate from the peace settlement, by which the two nations would share responsibility for protecting the islands.

Deadline Date Due On Reds' Answer

Washington, Nov. 25 (AP)—Enforcers of the new anti-subversive law awaited word from the mailman today which will set the deadline date for the Communist Party in the U. S. to answer government charges that it is ruled by Soviet Russia.

A copy of McGrath's petition to the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) was put in the mail Wednesday night—registered, air mail, special delivery.

It was addressed to William Z. Foster and Gus Hall, top Communist Party officials in New York.

Seth W. Richardson, SACB chairman told a reporter today that the party has 20 days from the time it is notified officially—that is, from the time it signs the postman's registry slip—to file its reply. Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, there may be some delay.

If the Ruminator, in his armchair speculation, has come up to hitting the trading position and strategy, the coming days will be anxious and full of unexpected twists and turns.

Whether Russia can be outsmarted in her coming strategy remains an enigma, obviously. She has continually won out in world politics since the big war ended. She has doubled her population, giving effect to the satellite nations and China. So, to use a cliché, the coming days are ripe with possibilities.

Incidentally, Yugoslavia conceivably will play an important part, if her delegate takes the side of the western nations in the coming struggle.

I want to bring to your attention a little book that is helpful to read and study during these times of strategic political maneuvering. It is titled "Strategy in Poker, Business & War." It undertakes to present a new theory of strategy that has been conceived by a noted scientist.

John von Neuman, Von Neuman and Morgenstern have written a thesis on the Theory of Games and Economic Behavior which is beyond the understanding of laymen as it is written in the scientist's language. This little book, by John McDonald (W. W. Norton & Co., Inc.) is an interpretation of the theory that you and I can comprehend. Let me suggest you look it over at your library or bookseller's, as I am sure you will find it engrossing and helpful in these days of world complexities.

The Ruminator would guess that in maneuvering for trading positions, we might hear many more rumors of peace in Korea. Russia's strategy apparently has been, first, to show the U. N. forces that Red Chinese forces can prolong the Korean war in-now, a person may be justified in building now a two-family house with the intention of living in one half and renting the other half. In fact, I have just completed a two-family house here at New Boston with the idea in mind. Be sure there are separate heating systems and that the water and electricity are on separate meters. Have two modern kitchens and two bathrooms.

Be Realistic in Choosing Location

Those who plan to build new homes should select the land as carefully as the materials. If possible, have enough good land for a "kitchen garden." Do not build in or near the big cities mentioned in the new book "Effects of Atomic Weapons," reviewed in the August 21 issue of Time magazine. The book itself can be secured for $1.25 from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. For three years I have warned of the danger of living in these cities.

As this danger becomes more acute, more and more people will try to move their residences from these bomb-vulnerable cities, thus adversely affecting real estate values in those cities and raising values in rural sections. High taxes, also make it wise to avoid the larger cities as locations for new homes. Best bets for new homes today are cities under 50,000 population with preference to the smaller towns and rural areas. The smaller the community, the better the chance for clean, healthy living in the American tradition.

Build a Practical Home

I advise readers who have never built before to do some careful planning before spending their hard-earned cash. Do not be carried away by impatient contractors but insist upon a fixed contract price, avoiding "out-pays." Know what you want and make sure you will get it before you commit yourself. Aim for a home that will be structurally sound as well as pleasing in appearance. Think of the future before you build. A four-room cottage with doll-sized rooms may look like a dream house now, but it will turn out to be an awful headache if you try to raise a family in it. Nor will it have any value near as high a resale value as a more orthodox unit with adequate living space.

9W Traffic Tied Up By Big Rock Slide

Haverstraw, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP)—A rock slide from High Tor, a peak overlooking the Hudson River just south of here, tied up traffic on Route 9W, the main highway to Albany, for eight hours yesterday.

It was the worst rock slide from High Tor in 10 years. Tons of rock were removed from the three-lane roadway by State Highway Department crews.

The slide occurred in the morning. One lane was cleared by noon but the road was not completely passable until mid-afternoon. Police re-routed traffic through Haverstraw.

The name of the elevation was used as the title of a play by Maxwell Anderson.

Woman Pleads Guilty In Illicit Still Case

New York, Nov. 25 (Special)—Josephine Galante of Villa Galante, New Paltz, pleaded guilty in Federal Court here Wednesday to an indictment charging her and five men with the operation of an illicit still on her New Paltz farm.

Federal Judge John Clancy released the New Paltz woman on her own recognizance for sentencing on November 27th. She is the fifth of the six defendants to plead guilty to the charge.

The defendants were arrested on November 16, 1948, when Federal agents found a 500-gallon still on the farm, described as one of the most elaborate they had ever seen in the area.

Sharkey on TV Shows

Mark Huling's trained seal, Sharkey is scheduled to appear on two television shows next week. He'll appear on Bob Hope's TV show Sunday at 8 p. m. over WNBT and again next Wednesday at 8 p. m. on Arthur Godfrey's video program over WCBS.

Won Claim on Wreck, Is Victim in Second

Merrick, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP)—Just 10 days ago, Attorney George R. Cohen and his law partner won a $150,000 settlement for the family of John Miran Weeks.

Weeks, a Time magazine editor, had been killed in the collision of two Long Island Railroad trains at Rockville Centre, an accident that took 33 lives.

Last Wednesday, Cohen himself was riding in one of the ill-fated cars that were smashed in the even more disastrous collision in Kew Gardens, Queens, on the same line.

Cohen was buried yesterday.

His partner, William A. Blank, said he would represent his dead friend's family in pressing a claim.

The Weather

SATURDAY, NOV. 25, 1950
Sun rises at 6:45 a. m.; sun sets at 4:16 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather: Rain.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 47 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 53 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Cloudy, windy and mild with occa-

casional rain today, changing to snow and much colder late this afternoon or tonight. High today in upper 50s, low tonight 10 to 20 along the coast and 10 to 15 in inland suburbs. Sunday clearing and much colder than today with diminishing winds. High in mid-20s. Southeasterly winds increasing to 40 to 50 miles per hour with gusts to 60 today, and becoming westerly late this afternoon or tonight and diminishing gradually to 20 or 30 by Sunday morning. West to northwest wind 20 to 30 Sunday.

Eastern New York—Strong southeast winds with rain and mild weather here today and to-night, although colder weather may change rain to snow west and south portions by morning. Windy and much colder with snow squalls Sunday.

Held for Hearing

Conrad Tubbs, 33, of Highland was charged by state police with driving while intoxicated and driving without a license after his automobile sideswiped another in Marlborough early today. Tubbs was held for hearing Monday before Justice of the Peace P. A. Lyons. Troopers said the other vehicle was driven by Thomas Murphy, 24, of Brooklyn, and that the accident occurred at 2:15 a. m. today on Route 9W in the village of Marlborough. No injuries were reported.

Finds Whiskey in River

Alexandria Bay, N. Y., Nov. 25 (AP)—A buoy on the St. Lawrence river today marked a cache of 200 to 300 bottles of Scotch whiskey and sauterne wine apparently dumped by a rum-runner of the prohibition era. Donald H. Gray of Clayton discovered the liquor while diving for a wrecked speedboat. He said the wreckage had landed among the bottles in about 50 feet of water.

Mount McKinley, 20,300-foot peak in Alaska, is the highest peak on the North American continent.

Memoriam

In loving memory of a dear husband and devoted father, Dennis Whipple, who passed away November 26, 1940.

At home on the beautiful hills of God.

By the valley of rest so fair, Someday when our earthly tasks are done, With joy we shall meet him there.

WIFE AND FAMILY.

Memoriam

In memory of our beloved mother, Clara Sabatino Storkes, who passed away one year ago to day, November 25, 1950.

When evening shadows gather, and we are setting here alone, In our hearts there comes a longing.

If you only could come home, Our hearts are sad and lonely, Our grief too deep to tell.

Time will come we can't wait, That we with you may dwell. The moon and stars are shining, On a lone and silent grave.

Beneath this one we always loved, But whom we could not save.

Driving Winds Hit Eastern Seaboard

New York, Nov. 25 (AP)—Driving winds, coming out of the southeast and heralding freezing temperatures and snow, hit the northern Atlantic States today with steadily increasing force.

The big blow struck New York first about 10 p. m. (EST) last night, and soon was coming in at a 30-mile clip with separate bursts up to 45.

The Weather Bureau forecast a top force of 50 miles per hour later today, with gusts up to 60.

The driving wind damaged city windows and signs, and in one place blew tiles off a roof. Within the first few hours, police emergency squads answered 26 calls.

In the harbor, police boats and the Coast Guard worked in choppy water to save small boats torn loose and set adrift. The police boats ran special patrols on the Hudson, the East River, at Sheepshead Bay, and near Staten Island.

The temperature was mild at dawn but a rapid drop was forecast, with a night low of 10 to 15 expected in the area. The Weather Bureau said occasional rain today would turn into snow by nightfall.

Kingston Escapes

one spot. Chilling temperatures seeped into southern states and wind-driven snow virtually paralyzed Pittsburgh.

Winds up to 83 miles an hour were reported in New York. The howling wind tumbled houses and knocked over trees as it whipped inland from the sea. Ten persons were rescued from seaside homes. Others in the Staten Island area were ordered to evacuate their homes.

Electrified train service on three lines leading into the city was suspended.

The rising storm followed a wild night of lashing rain. Railroad tracks were inundated along the Hudson river.

At Bear Mountain Weather Station one gust of wind reached a velocity of 96 miles per hour.

Ten persons were rescued from collapsing seaside cottages on Staten Island.

Wind and high waves tore boats from their moorings and battered other small craft.

The Weather Bureau warned residents of the New York area to batten down for more of the blow.

Pittsburgh braced itself for more of a heavy snow storm—already the greatest continuous snowfall in the city's history.

By morning, already 16 inches of snow blanketed Pittsburgh and there was every prospect that another 10 to 15 inches would fall.

Transportation came to a virtual halt and essential services were badly hit by the heavy storm. The storm also took an extremely toll, claiming the lives of five men who were stricken as they fought the mounting drifts.

Snow Blocks Pennsylvania

The snow piled up in other western Pennsylvania sections with 18 inches reported at Meadville and 15 at Erie. Two other deaths were attributed to the storm, the result of accidents.

At Cleveland, one of the worst blizzards of November record almost halted street transportation. Traffic was whittled down to a few public vehicles and there was little likelihood that these would continue in operation if the storm continued. Forecasters indicated at least a foot of snow would fall.

Transportation came to a virtual halt and essential services were badly hit by the heavy storm. The storm also took an extremely toll, claiming the lives of five men who were stricken as they fought the mounting drifts.

No Relief in Sight

The northeastern region was promised no immediate relief. Moderating temperatures were forecast in some of the western states. But it was still heavy overcoat weather for the midwest.

The late-November, wind-swept snow storm, after sweeping across the mid-continent, whipped across the Appalachian mountain and lower Great Lakes region.

The blinding snow slowed traffic in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, western New York and the mountain sections from Maryland and Virginia. The storm moved eastward and rain from central New York to South Carolina was expected to change to snow. Ohio also was in for fresh falls.

The snowstorm sweeping in off the Great Lakes disappeared early today after touching southwestern New York state. Temperatures in western New York started climbing well above freezing.

An overnight fall of 12 inches was reported in Dunkirk on Lake Erie, but only an inch fell farther north in Buffalo. The Weather Bureau said points near central New York did not feel the storm at all.

The worst blizzard in modern times paralyzed northern Ohio today and still the snow drove down.

Transportation, industry, business—all were stopped dead in the large industrial cities of Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron, Canton, and Warren.

The snow fall measured upwards of 18 inches. The U. S. Weather Bureau said it might reach 30 inches in a non-stop onslaught that began yesterday morning before daylight.

Found Dead in Bed

Edwin Mironchik, 50, was found dead in bed at his home on the Springtown road, R.F.D. 2, New Paltz, Friday about 10:20 a. m.

Mironchik, who had lived alone, was dead about two days, according to Cleaver Michael Gallotta, who said death was due to natural causes. The body was turned over to the V. T. Pind and Son Funeral Home in New Paltz.

Korean War Claims Ex-Army Grid Capt.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 25 (AP)—Second Lt. John C. Trent, 23-year-old captain of West Point's unbeaten, untied '49 football squad, has been killed in Korea.

A Defense Department telegram was received by his parents here yesterday saying the former United States Military Academy end was killed Nov. 15, three days after he landed with the Third Division's 15th Infantry Regiment.

No further details were given.

U. S. Offensive

built model weighing nearly 60 tons.

It was the first such official designation of a giant Red tank in Korea, although GI's early in the war reported seeing mammoth tanks. Later, however, they encountered only the T-34 medium tank. Hundreds were destroyed.

East of the 24th, the ROK First Division was hit twice by about 300 Reds in the wintry dawn southeast of Taechon. The first attack forced the South Koreans back a half-mile; the second a mile.

But by daylight Saturday, the ROK punched back. A First Corps spokesman said they drove the Reds back but still faced stiff resistance.

And far behind the front, three flights of marine Corsairs made a flaming ruin of the guerrilla nerve center of Sangsang, 23 miles south of the big east coast allied supply port of Wonsan. The marine planes struck Friday night, blowing a fuel dump and setting buildings afire.

Local Death Record

George Northrup of Stone Ridge died today in Kingston. The funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, at a time to be announced.

Edin Mironchik, 50, died at his home on the Springtown road, New Paltz, Nov. 22. Born in Russia, he had made his home in the United States for many years. He was a retired tailor. Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. M. David-Duke of Brooklyn. Funeral services will be held from the William Staurksi Funeral Home, Brooklyn, Tuesday. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Howard Dubois, 82, died early today at his home on the New Paltz-Liberty road, after a short illness. He was born at Gardiner, son of the late Henry L. and Mary Wurtz Dubois. He was a retired farmer.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Harry Quick, with whom he made his home. Funeral services will be held from the late residence Tuesday, at 2 p. m. Burial will be in New Paltz Rural Cemetery, where the Rev. Garrett Wultschiger will officiate. Friends may call at the late residence from Sunday evening on.

Yonkers

Myron Smith, 76, of Stone Ridge died at his home early this morning. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer of Syracuse; two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Clearwater of Stone Ridge and Mrs. Ada Sherman of Binnewater.

Phoebe Brink of Stone Ridge, and one granddaughter. Funeral will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Huston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson. Burial will be in Middletown Cemetery. The Rev. Clarence W. Hunter of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson will officiate.

Funeral services for Charles E. Brewer, of 100 West Union street, who died Friday night after a lengthy illness, will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Monday at 1 p. m. Burial in the family plot in Fairview Cemetery, Stone Ridge. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

Walter A. Ruth

Walter A. Ruth of Catskill, a former resident of this vicinity, has been elected president of District 11 of the New York State Nurses Association to complete the unexpired term of Mrs. Mary B. Slattery of Middletown, who resigned because of illness.

Elias Gingold was named president of the Ellenville Chamber of Commerce at the organization meeting of the board of directors Monday night. Other officers named at that time include Seymour Kinberg, first vice-president; William Horowitz, second vice-president; Ernest Caston, treasurer, and Miss Beatrice Weinberger, secretary. Chamber of Commerce directors chosen recently are R. A. Benson, Philip Kinberg, Tuthill Dowell and Ben Terwilliger.

Miss Carol Brady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Brady of Wawarsing, became the bride of Robert Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lewis of this village, at St. Mary's Church Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. James Flynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Napanoch was made of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jacqueline Ryan of Shenandoah, Pa., and Mrs. Leona Poppe of this village. John F. Brady, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Walter Lewis, brother of the groom, and Raymond Jackson of Freeport. ## ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, Nov. 25—Henry F. Hoornbeek was given a testimonial dinner Thursday night at the Flo Jinn in Port Jervis by the board of directors of the Ellenville Savings Bank on the occasion of his completion of 50 years of association with the bank. Joining the staff Nov. 17, 1900 as a teller and bookkeeper, Mr. Hoornbeek was promoted six years later to treasurer. In 1924 he became secretary and in 1945 succeeded C. Dwight Divine as president. At the dinner Deyo W. Johnson served as toastmaster. Speakers included Mr. Divine, Charles F. Kaiser, Jr. and Raymond G. Cox, who presented Mr. Hoornbeek with a gold pocket watch on which was inscribed: "Ellenville Savings Bank, 1900-1950."

William P. Gregg, a native of this village, celebrated on Monday the 50th anniversary of his admission to the bar. Now a resident of Port Jervis, Mr. Gregg is associated with his son, William J. Gregg.

George Burger is on vacation from the O. and W. Railroad.

Ralph Cogley, employed by the New York City Board of Water Supply, left Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with his family in Croton.

Memorials.

In loving memory of a dear husband and devoted father, Benjie Whipple, who passed away November 26, 1940.

At home on the beautiful hills of God,

By the valley of rest so fair, Someday when our earthly tasks are done, With joy we shall meet him there.

WIFE AND FAMILY.

Memorials.

In memory of our beloved mother, Klara Balash Szekeres, who passed away one year ago today, November 25, 1949.

When evening shadows gather, And we are setting here alone, In our hearts there comes a longing,

If you only could come home. Our hearts are sad and lonely, Our grief too deep to tell.

Time will come we care not when, That we with you may dwell.

The moon and stars are shining, On a lone and silent grave,

Beneath this one we always loved, But whom we could not save.

Driving Winds Hit Eastern Seaboard

Korean War Claims Ex-Army Grid Capt.

New York, Nov. 25 (AP)—Driving winds, coming out of the southeast and heralding freezing temperatures and snow, hit the northern Atlantic States today with steadily increasing force.

The big blow struck New York first about 10 p. m. (EST) last night, and soon was coming in at a 30-mile clip with separate bursts up to 45.

The Weather Bureau forecast a top force of 50 miles per hour later today, with gusts up to 60.

The driving wind damaged city windows and signs, and in one place blew tiles off a roof. Within the first few hours, police emergency squads answered 26 calls.

In the harbor, police boats and the Coast Guard worked in choppy water to save small boats torn loose and set adrift. The police boats ran special patrols on the Hudson, the East River, at Sheepshead Bay, and near Staten Island.

The temperature was mild at dawn but a rapid drop was forecast, with a night low of 10 to 15 expected in the area. The Weather Bureau said occasional rain today would turn into snow by nightfall.

East of the 24th, the ROK First Division was hit twice by about 3,000 Reds in the wintry dawn southeast of Taechon. The first attack forced the South Koreans back a half-mile; the second a mile.

But by daylight Saturday, the ROK punched back. A First Corps spokesman said they drove the Reds back but still faced stiff resistance.

And far behind the front, three flights of marine Corsairs made a flaming run of the guerrilla nerve center of Sangsan, 23 miles south of the big east coast allied supply port of Wonsan. The marine planes struck Friday night, blowing a fuel dump and setting buildings afire.

The rising storm followed a night of lashing rain. Railroad tracks were inundated along the Hudson river.

At Bear Mountain Weather Station one gust of wind reached a velocity of 96 miles per hour.

Ten persons were rescued from collapsing seaside cottages on Staten Island.

Wind and high waves tore boats from their moorings and battered other small craft.

The Weather Bureau warned residents of the New York area to batten down for more of the blow.

Pittsburgh braced itself for more of a heavy snow storm—already the greatest continuous snowfall in the city's history.

By morning, already 16 inches of snow blanketed Pittsburgh and there was every prospect that another 10 to 15 inches would fall.

Transportation came to a virtual halt, and essential services were badly hit by the heavy storm. The storm also took an early toll, claiming the lives of five men who were stricken as they fought the mounting drifts.

Snow Block Pennsylvania

The snow piled up in other western Pennsylvania sections with 18 inches reported at Meadville and 15 at Erie. Two other deaths were attributed to the storm, the result of accidents.

At Cleveland, one of the worst blizzards of November record almost halted street transportation. Traffic was whittled down to a few public vehicles and there was little likelihood that these would continue in operation if the storm continued. Forecasts indicated at least a foot of snow would fall.
